

LATEST FOREIGN NEWS.

Turkey Sinks Into a Slough of Political Despond.

HARLEQUIN BEACONSFIELD.

Czar Alexander Whistles to His Journalistic Pack.

SCHOUVALOFF DECORATED.

Chileans, Flushed with Success, Threaten Iquique and Arica.

THE CRESCENT AND THE CROSS.

[BY CABLE TO THE HERALD.]

LONDON, Nov. 12, 1879.

A Paris despatch to the Daily Telegraph says:—"Abd-el-Kader, the famous Algerian chief, died recently at Damascus at the age of seventy-two."

Private telegrams from Lima, dated October 29, state that there has been a change in the Peruvian Ministry, but the telegrams make no mention of any popular disturbances.

The Berlin correspondent of the Times, discussing the French Ambassador's visit to Vardin, says the possible resignation of M. Waddington may have necessitated a fresh understanding between France and Germany.

A Paris despatch to the Standard reports that M. Silvestre, an official candidate of the Fourton-Brogie Ministry, in the election at Vancluse for the Chamber of Deputies, and M. Montagne, ex-sub-prefect, have been sentenced to five months' imprisonment each for bribery and corruption.

A Berlin despatch says:—"The French Ambassador is visiting Prince Bismarck at Varsin. No political importance is attached to this circumstance, however, as the invitation was given some time ago, but the visit was postponed until the present time in consequence of Prince Bismarck's indisposition."

BOSNIA AND HERZEGOVINA.

The Standard's Constantinople despatch says there is great agitation in Bosnia and Herzegovina, where Mussulmans and Christians make common cause. Fears of a rising in the spring prevent Austria from reducing the army of occupation.

TURKEY'S POSSIBLE DISMEMBERMENT.

The correspondent of the Times at Constantinople says there is grave reason to fear that the reckless, dogged and passive resistance which has hitherto baffled all the efforts of the British Ambassador to Turkey, will be prolonged, and that the country will continue to sink gradually, as it has been doing during the last twelve months, until some catastrophe produces a radical change in the situation. The Constantinople correspondent of the Standard telegraphs:—"The Minister of Finance has paid $250,000 to the army contractors; therefore there is no fear of the supply of provisions for the soldiers running short." The Vienna correspondent of the Times says it is announced from Constantinople that Midhat Paşa has definitively withdrawn his resignation.

RUSSIA AND AUSTRIA.

A despatch from Vienna to the Times says:—"The Czar's visit will come here before going to Berlin. Circumstances lend unusual significance to these visits. They are interpreted as a first step on the part of Russia toward surmounting the estrangement between herself and the two central Empires of Europe, an estrangement dating from the conclusion of the preliminary Treaty of San Stefano and culminating in the Austro-German understanding of Vienna. No obstacle will be found here to putting an end to this estrangement; but the result, whatever it may be, cannot affect the understanding between Germany and Austria."

NAVAL CHANGES AT HALIFAX.

At latest advices from Halifax it was expected that the Northampton (iron-clad), the new flagship for that station, would sail from England last week for Bermuda to relieve the flagship Belknap. The commander-in-chief of the same station will be Vice Admiral Sir Francis Leopold McClintock.

"PETER IV."

COUNT SCHOUVALOFF'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED—HE RECEIVES THE ORDER OF ST. VLADIMIR AND REMAINS A MEMBER OF THE COUNCIL OF THE EMPIRE.

[BY CABLE TO THE HERALD.]

LONDON, Nov. 12, 1879.

An autograph letter of the Czar is published accepting the resignation of Count Schouvaloff as Ambassador to England and conferring upon him the Order of St. Vladimir, in recognition of his public services. Count Schouvaloff will remain a member of the Council of the Empire. The London World says:—"The representations made by Count Schouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador, concerning Afghanistan were received with effusive friendliness by Lord Beaconsfield, who took the whole subject out of the hands of the Marquis of Salisbury, the Foreign Secretary. The result of Count Schouvaloff's two visits to Downing street is that when the time comes for the Afghan coup de grace England and Russia are to settle the difficulty in the friendliest way possible. The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily News says Prince Lobanoff will succeed Count Schouvaloff at London and Prince Labouff will succeed Prince Lobanoff at Constantinople. [Count Schouvaloff's connection with London dates from January, 1873. He was charged with the double task of arranging the marriage of the Duke of Edinburgh and the Duke of Edinburgh, and of assuring the British Cabinet that Russia's views in Central Asia were not in conflict with British interests. The first of these functions he discharged with the tact of an accomplished man of the world, renowned for his faultless distinction of manner, and long esteemed at court as one of the most infatigable of the Grand Marshal. The diplomatic part of his mission he performed so well that when Baron Brunow died Count Schouvaloff took his place at the mansion in Chesham place, which is assigned to the representative of all the Russians at the Court of St. James. The Count was already tired of power. As chief of the "Third Division" he had been the most harassed of all high Russian functionaries, and the Countess had already withdrawn from society to devote herself to the education of her children. He intended to make the Embassy a mere halting place, which he could occupy for a year or two and afterward return to his place in the Council of the Empire." He was surprised by a flood of work. Upon him fell the whole burden of maintaining friendly relations between England and Russia. He conducted the negotiations of the London protocol in March, 1877; drew up the famous memorandum of June 8, 1877, and took his seat in the Congress of 1878. When Plevna fell and the warlike spirit rose in England, he neither concealed the condition of affairs from the Russian government nor presented a less resolute front to the British. His coolness averted the collision. He occupied a place in London society to which none of his predecessors had attained, and his recall will leave a gap in it which no successor can fill.]

MUZZLING THE RUSSIAN PRESS.

TOO MUCH PUBLICITY INTERFERES WITH THE IMPERIAL POLICY—DRAWING THE LINES OF POLITICAL DISCUSSION.

[BY CABLE TO THE HERALD.]

LONDON, Nov. 11, 1879.

A despatch from St. Petersburg to the Daily News says:—"All the Russian papers have articles upon the latest steps taken in Constantinople by the British government, and in certain circles an uneasy feeling is generated." The Golos says:—"In the event of England attempting to violate Turkish independence, and at the same time to infringe the vital interests of Russia, a collision between the two Powers would be more convenient for the latter on the confines of Asia Minor than in the depths of Central Asia. The Norve Tremsja is of the opinion that the Powers are opposed to the aggressive measures of England, and that none of them will act as a cat's paw." A despatch from Berlin to the Daily News says:—"The editors of all the principal newspapers in St. Petersburg have recently been summoned to the Press Bureau of the Ministry of the Interior and instructed with reference to the conduct of their respective papers. They were informed that frequent complaints had been received from Livadia that articles in the St. Petersburg press interfered with the imperial policy, and therefore they must not continue in the same strain. Neither Germany nor Austria-Hungary, nor the relations of Russia with either of these two Powers, nor the treaty between these two Powers nor France must be discussed. England may be discussed, but judiciously. These rules will be continued until the Emperor's return to St. Petersburg, a month hence." A Berlin despatch confirms the report of the restrictions imposed by the Russian government upon the principal newspapers of St. Petersburg regarding the discussion of political questions, and adds:—"The position of the Russian newspapers is very embarrassing, as they are debarré from discussing leading political questions. The Russian government proposes to establish a new official newspaper to influence public opinion." Telegrams reporting the recent interview between Lord Beaconsfield and Count Schouvaloff, Russian Ambassador to England, were suppressed. Anglo-Russian relations are stated to be somewhat strained. Military preparations are making in the Caucasus.

BOSNIA AND HERZEGOVINA.

The Standard's Constantinople despatch says there is great agitation in Bosnia and Herzegovina, where Mussulmans and Christians make common cause. Fears of a rising in the spring prevent Austria from reducing the army of occupation.

TURKEY'S POSSIBLE DISMEMBERMENT.

The correspondent of the Times at Constantinople says there is grave reason to fear that the reckless, dogged and passive resistance which has hitherto baffled all the efforts of the British Ambassador to Turkey, will be prolonged, and that the country will continue to sink gradually, as it has been doing during the last twelve months, until some catastrophe produces a radical change in the situation. The Constantinople correspondent of the Standard telegraphs:—"The Minister of Finance has paid $250,000 to the army contractors; therefore there is no fear of the supply of provisions for the soldiers running short." The Vienna correspondent of the Times says it is announced from Constantinople that Midhat Paşa has definitively withdrawn his resignation.

RUSSIA AND AUSTRIA.

A despatch from Vienna to the Times says:—"The Czar's visit will come here before going to Berlin. Circumstances lend unusual significance to these visits. They are interpreted as a first step on the part of Russia toward surmounting the estrangement between herself and the two central Empires of Europe, an estrangement dating from the conclusion of the preliminary Treaty of San Stefano and culminating in the Austro-German understanding of Vienna. No obstacle will be found here to putting an end to this estrangement; but the result, whatever it may be, cannot affect the understanding between Germany and Austria."

NAVAL CHANGES AT HALIFAX.

At latest advices from Halifax it was expected that the Northampton (iron-clad), the new flagship for that station, would sail from England last week for Bermuda to relieve the flagship Belknap. The commander-in-chief of the same station will be Vice Admiral Sir Francis Leopold McClintock.

"PETER IV."

COUNT SCHOUVALOFF'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED—HE RECEIVES THE ORDER OF ST. VLADIMIR AND REMAINS A MEMBER OF THE COUNCIL OF THE EMPIRE.

[BY CABLE TO THE HERALD.]

LONDON, Nov. 12, 1879.

An autograph letter of the Czar is published accepting the resignation of Count Schouvaloff as Ambassador to England and conferring upon him the Order of St. Vladimir, in recognition of his public services. Count Schouvaloff will remain a member of the Council of the Empire. The London World says:—"The representations made by Count Schouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador, concerning Afghanistan were received with effusive friendliness by Lord Beaconsfield, who took the whole subject out of the hands of the Marquis of Salisbury, the Foreign Secretary. The result of Count Schouvaloff's two visits to Downing street is that when the time comes for the Afghan coup de grace England and Russia are to settle the difficulty in the friendliest way possible. The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily News says Prince Lobanoff will succeed Count Schouvaloff at London and Prince Labouff will succeed Prince Lobanoff at Constantinople. [Count Schouvaloff's connection with London dates from January, 1873. He was charged with the double task of arranging the marriage of the Duke of Edinburgh and the Duke of Edinburgh, and of assuring the British Cabinet that Russia's views in Central Asia were not in conflict with British interests. The first of these functions he discharged with the tact of an accomplished man of the world, renowned for his faultless distinction of manner, and long esteemed at court as one of the most infatigable of the Grand Marshal. The diplomatic part of his mission he performed so well that when Baron Brunow died Count Schouvaloff took his place at the mansion in Chesham place, which is assigned to the representative of all the Russians at the Court of St. James. The Count was already tired of power. As chief of the "Third Division" he had been the most harassed of all high Russian functionaries, and the Countess had already withdrawn from society to devote herself to the education of her children. He intended to make the Embassy a mere halting place, which he could occupy for a year or two and afterward return to his place in the Council of the Empire." He was surprised by a flood of work. Upon him fell the whole burden of maintaining friendly relations between England and Russia. He conducted the negotiations of the London protocol in March, 1877; drew up the famous memorandum of June 8, 1877, and took his seat in the Congress of 1878. When Plevna fell and the warlike spirit rose in England, he neither concealed the condition of affairs from the Russian government nor presented a less resolute front to the British. His coolness averted the collision. He occupied a place in London society to which none of his predecessors had attained, and his recall will leave a gap in it which no successor can fill.]

which he could occupy for a year or two and afterward return to his place in the Council of the Empire." He was surprised by a flood of work. Upon him fell the whole burden of maintaining friendly relations between England and Russia. He conducted the negotiations of the London protocol in March, 1877; drew up the famous memorandum of June 8, 1877, and took his seat in the Congress of 1878. When Plevna fell and the warlike spirit rose in England, he neither concealed the condition of affairs from the Russian government nor presented a less resolute front to the British. His coolness averted the collision. He occupied a place in London society to which none of his predecessors had attained, and his recall will leave a gap in it which no successor can fill.]

VICTORIOUS CHILEANS.

THE ALLIES QUARRELLING—THE CHILEANS THREATENING IQUIQUE AND ARICA—CONFIRMATION OF THE NEWS OF THE CAPTURE OF PISAGUA.

VALPARAISO, Oct. 17, 1879. Via Rio Janeiro, Oct. 26, 1879.

It is reported that disputes have arisen between the Bolivians and the Peruvians at Tacna.

The Chileans are endeavoring to capture Iquique and Arica by reducing the inhabitants to extremities.

One hundred and twenty-eight prisoners from the Peruvian iron-clad Huascar have arrived here.

MAP SHOWING THE POSITION OF PISAGUA, CAPTURED RECENTLY BY THE CHILEAN FORCES.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

MIDNIGHT WEATHER REPORT.

WAR DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—1 A. M.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in temperature, varying winds and a slight rise, followed by a falling barometer.

For the upper lake region, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, a slight fall in temperature and variable winds.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri valleys, heavy rains, followed by clearing weather, falling, followed by rising barometer and slight change in temperature.

For New England, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer and rising temperature and southerly to westerly winds.

For the Middle States, slightly warmer, southeast to southwest winds, falling barometer and partly cloudy weather, with rain in the northern portions.

For the Pacific coast regions, partly cloudy weather, with light rains.

The Upper Ohio and Upper Mississippi will rise slowly.

Cautionary signals are ordered for Chicago, Milwaukee, Section 1, Grand Haven and Section 3.

For the South Atlantic States, slightly warmer and clear or partly cloudy weather, with slowly falling barometer and easterly to southerly winds.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, threatening weather and rain, falling barometer, southerly to westerly winds, and nearly stationary temperature.

For the lower lake region, threatening weather and rain, a slight fall in